

There is something marvelous about using the senses to receive information about the environment. The wonder of being able to smell the scents from the flowers, from grass, from farms, and even the ozone from the sea. To be able to feel the heat of the sun on your arms and back, or the chill of a wind through a window. All of these wonderful sense-felt experiences that make our lives that bit richer.

Now. There was a clue in that last sentence. Yes we have senses as well. It has been said that ours are more enhanced, stronger and with greater clarity.

An example of that would be with colour. I can sense the colour of anything, merely by being near it. Colours have their own energies. On your planet, these energies can be detected between the various colours, though this is a hard skill to master.

One of the previous speakers might have already mentioned that our ability to smell is greater too. And we have some control over the distance we can allow our smell receptors to reach. I could smell the fresh cut hay in a field some distance away, just by reaching for it in my mind. I was going to suggest that we're not super-human, but I believe in many ways we are.

When it comes to us using the senses on your life plane, there are some restrictions.

Your vibration and energy fields are different to ours and therefore our experiences on your planet, in the same state of vibration as yours, are limited, in the same way that you wouldn't find it easy to be your earth senses in our vibration, without dramatic changes first.

Taste is another sense that I believe we appreciate more than you do.

Our ability to use taste reaches far beyond your limited ability of earth. When we use taste to gather information, we receive much more detail than humans do.

As is the same with touch. Our touch is heightened, when comp compared with yours. Your touch sensations are very limited to the local area of the sensation, whereas ours extends further into the nearby environment.

When I touch a daisy, for example, I can feel its connection to the earth below it.

People on earth allow their senses to numb after time, whereas here, we keep our senses at peak condition.

So now you know. Being in this state of life is exciting and enhanced. I hope you're finding my talk with you interesting.

Thank you for writing my every word.

Goodbye.
