

We're glad to see you're recovering from whatever bug you had. And you're returning to your home tomorrow. Well, of course, I am privileged to be chosen as the last speaker for this session. Unless, that is, you find time later tonight in your world.

There have been six of us chosen to talk throughout this batch of pens. We've, more or less, taken it in turns, apart from at the beginning, when our leader spoke to you. I believe you got his tone! It was intended, and for your own good.

In these sessions we've deliberately not focused on specific topics for reasons you don't need to know.

One of the speakers was new to this form of connection and we thought she did rather good. I'm not telling you which session that was. You can have a go at that yourself.

We do know when you finally publish our words for others to read. You see, the words together create an energy that, when read, forms an energy pattern we recognise. Believe me, that is not rocket science, as you might think. Everything and every word has its own unique energy pattern.

To make that somewhat easier for you to understand, imagine someone tapping our words out on a morse code key. The pattern of dots and clashes would be unique to the message. I imagine that sped up, and that is similar to how we hear specific messages. We recognise the consequent energy pattern.

In your mind, you made a vow to get back to using your cabinet at home. Please do.

We want to work with you in there. Long-term it is where you will find your forte. But you need much practice and conditioning first. We will help you with that. So please sit in the cabinet more. Take your sound recorder in with you.

You can bring your writing set up, but not for penning our messages. If you do this, your mediumship will excel to new higher levels, and I'm sure you'd like that.

You have a friend that suggested the Lanz. Sessions could be made into a book. I respect your reasons for not wanting to do so, but I don't agree with you. Your penned messages from us will serve a much greater audience than they will at the moment.

Although you may not realise it at this time, your work is important to your world.

You appear to be focused on what your close friends and family think about what you do. Expand your horizon dear boy. There's a world of people wanting to read our words. It's up to you to make them available while we do the rest.

Think on and put a plan together. We'll make sure the needed people come into your path to help you. It won't be people you know already, it'll be people you need to know. Is that clear.

Anyway that will do for now. If I am the last speaker of the series, may I say on behalf of us six, it's been marvellous and we are really grateful.

Until the next time - ~~good~~ bye.