

It is wonderful to hear your engaging the musee, as you connect with me. I must say your choice of sounds are rather different than those of my days. Don't get me wrong, I am not entirely disappointed.
Music is the liquor of the gods, they say.
And music can be used to accompany
so many emotions
and memories.
I always wished I'd learn to play a A instrument when I had the chance. It doesn't matter here now though.

We have so much music available to us. It takes on a different dimension here though.

Your sounds are picked to the two ears that you use. Hence, we have much more depth available to ~~the~~ listening. The vibrations it releases brings the music we breathe to life.

Every game I knew that have moved to this side, that don't have music in their life soon change when they get to experience us;

Marie is the polar opposite to science you might think, but it's not. Marie can create a pure science, but that might be too much to explain to you, without you understanding mine on many dimensions.

Thank you for letting me talk this time.

I've been a little disturbed by hearing
your music in your ears.

Perhaps you might use
this tripod of yours
more often. It appears to slow down your mind into wanting to get involved.

I do wish people on earth would stop believing the old thing about harp's being played
by angels on clouds.
That would not be my taste, and I'll never seen if happen since I've been here!

I suspect a few of your listeners might enjoy what your young listeners write the look of it now, so you remember.

INSANE LIVE LOOPING A METO.

Anyway my friend,
I'd rather like for
you. Should you not be asking?

I will touch base
with you soon.

Am really enjoyed your message. It has had great impact on my energy too.

Goodbye friend.
