

Hello. So you want me to talk to you about what this world we live in is like?

Well, that sets me a challenge. You see, many of your great trance mediums have been shown a glimpse of our world.

Other people have accidentally been visitors for a short life. I'm referring to those that go into the light because of a medical issue, but are soon returned back to the planet.

Your pages in your reference books all have different versions of life this side.

Only yesterday you were reading a reference to the great Swedenborg's version of life this side. Let me make things a little clearer for you, though complete clarity is not possible using your own imagination at this time.

Every unique soul, every individual that resides in this realm has their own perceptions, often that they have created.

Let me take your own father as an example.

When he crossed to this side, he was greeted by those close to him this side. His parents and his friends. For a while, he experienced the new world in the form that they had created.

Eventually he chose to create his own world using what your people refer to as a template. In other words, it was a perceived world already in existence. There is where he created his new home. All of his family and friends that side automatically became part of it. The template, if you like to call it that, wasn't too dissimilar to one many other souls had chosen; hence it was well established.

Most people choose similar templates that very much mirror their previous life on earth.

As you all say, live with what is familiar.

Your father worked on his new house, as he would have on earth, but without the backache and labour pains. He created new life to him, a beautiful home with wonderful views.

When your mother passed to this side, your dad was there to greet her, as were all the members of her family. Her brother Jim, and other siblings, all were at hand to help her adjust. Both your mum and dad adjusted

very quickly. This was because this new life in this world, was without the pain and financial woes of life.

Your mum chose to live in your feathers
new home and this lifelong relationship
could continue as if they'd never been apart.

All the templates, as we've called them for this writing, are interwoven. Anyone can visit any other perceived area. Those that like to go to pubs on earth can do so here too. Those that choose a more 'spiritual' and solitude life can embrace that way too. You see, where the earth form of life is known to be three dimensional, here is multi-dimensional. How that works is something that I would find difficult to explain. The best analogy I can offer is referring you to your own dreams when you visit places that are new, often frightening, sometimes beautiful.

We all have that freedom of choice this side.

When you consider what we shared with you as a peek into our structure, you can appreciate it's a lot less complicated than you might have imagined. You'll discover,

when you do come here,
that keeping life to the three domestics on earth is what appears difficult.

I hope you enjoyed
that insight into our world. But can I leave you with a piece of personal advice?

Don't spend your remaining time on your planet wondering what's ahead. Instead, appreciate what you have around you. Your turn to come home, will come in time, as it will for everyone, so in the meantime, like you do with your holidays, don't waste your time away. Goodbye my good friend and thank you for accurately reproducing my words.
