

Good day to you. It's exciting for me to be able to communicate with you using this medium.

I've been told to pay attention to what you write to make sure you're staying in line! I feel busy!

I want to talk to you about one of the greatest gifts that, not only a medium should possess, but everyone alive. It is the gift of humbleness. Not to be confused with meekness or suppression of personality.

When you have a moment, take time to search the meaning of the word itself. You'll find many interpretations, so focus on those relating to human use.

Have you noticed how other are drawn to the presence of a naturally humble person. Note that word, naturally.

You see, some people try to be humble to suit an occasion. Their false humbleness is often detectable when their interest in you fades, or it no longer suits them.

Naturally humble people attract others through their warmth and desire to acknowledge you.

Being a humble person is more than dressing for social occasions though. Being humble comes from practising a humble life.

~~It's not~~ Thank you - listen.

Truly humble people desire nothing other than to be thankful for the blessings they're been given. It's not about inventory of assets accrued either. There is nothing wrong in making a success in life, so long as you've served to help others in the process.

Jesus was the epitome of a humble being. His short life was all about helping others achieve their desires. He would have given his last crumb of bread to a starving person and gone without himself. His reward was knowing he had done the right thing and remained humble to God.

I hope that you, and others who might read my words, take time to examine their life and question themselves, "Am I an humble person, deep in my soul?"

I am hoping you consider my words and perhaps research a little about humbleness. Its not something you can't introduce into your life. Like any habit, its a matter of practising it. Being humble during your life in many aspects of daily life will serve you well and feed your soul's desire for betterment.

Have a lovely day. There is so much for you to be blessed about.

Goodbye.
