

"Waken your spirit for a new horizon."

When we hear these words new horizon, it is all too common that people think of it as something immediate. Think of the meaning of the word horizon. It refers to the most distant view we can see.

Even in the spiritual context, it still refers to the distant vision. As does the phrase, the dawning of a new day is coming. When we refer to it new horizon, as I did at the opening of my speech, I refer to where it is you are visualising for your life path. The new horizon metaphorical as it is, is referring to you making changes now in your direction forward, which will bring with it a new horizon.

Some people on earth are still of the belief that their horizon is the best for them. But they want to get there without the effort.

You can sit in the front seats of a bus and stare out of the front window at the distant places far as far as you choose. But until the bus moves forward, nothing will be achieved.

So what I'm saying to you is that if someone ever says to you, such and such is on your horizon, consider this, if you can't see it now, you're going to have to change direction. Then the new horizon is yours.

I share this with you because I'm aware that some misinformed people often talk about great changes that are coming, or energy changes that will affect the few. I'm sorry to disappoint you,
this is mainly popcock.

The only changes you can expect are those you impose on yourself.

Maybe there is some big Dime Invention or about to happen. I've never heard about it, ever, and I've been here a few while.

- DISTRACTED

Always remember that the link between our two worlds is fragile and destroyed in a thought.

I was talking about horizons, and in particular, new horizons. Those that seek such new horizons must be prepared to make the changes themselves to whatever needs to be done to make it happen.

Do you still have the phrase, "Don't buy the miracle snake oil!"

Well that's what I'm saying about these fake scenes and mystics claiming new horizons, new energies and the like are coming for a few. Sorry, utter nonsense.

My friend, you had a distemper today. I think me worked through it though!

Perhaps I'll get another chance to speak again
soon.

Have a nice day.
