

May I take up the roll of talking to you this time. I'm keen to chat about yours and others unfoldment, as you call it. That choice of word is okay for where you are. We refer to it more as feeding the soul. Anyway, I'll use your word when I refer to it.

Your Unfoldment started the moment you were born to earth. You possessed everything you needed, as did everyone. Though some people want to believe that their life chances covered the gifts up, that isn't entirely accurate. Your life has been a series of lessons. You might consider them as the practical part of your journey.

Everything that has happened in your life has given you your unique signature of who you are and who you will therefore become.

As you now know, much of this practical work happened without you being aware of its importance in your spiritual unfolding.

Once your practical lessons were complete, you were made ready for the theory and the classroom work. That is when you became aware of this path of life for the first time.

Every person steps into the classroom stage at the time they are ready to, and that is not a choice you knowingly make. The time was chosen by your progress to the point you were made aware of your future role.

Your soul knew its purpose long before you were aware of it.

I know all this because my role here is as an advanced teacher, as you might call it. I teach the teachers. Leaders in this work that have joined us here are assigned with advanced teachers. People you might know such as your Gordon Higginson and Celyn Edwards, Harry Edwards, Albert Best and many more such names you know. They have all been assigned advanced teachers here.

I share this with you so you may begin to appreciate that the path you have chosen was done so a long time before you believe it was.

The advanced teaching I'm involved in is very much around helping with the understanding of the true self. You've recently referred to it as your higher self.

There is much to learn. This is beyond the type of knowledge you might be involved in on earth. I teach more about understanding the Self and its part within the universal consciousness - the path which every soul takes towards final enlightenment.

If I could share one piece of advice for you reading these words, it would be to spend some of your unfolding lessons in learning to appreciate your self - the essence of you.

Achieve this by using the silence to discover. The silence is the only place you can discover the true self - As I said, the essence of who you are.

You have taken time to read my dictated words, which means you are already of a state ready to understand your destiny.

I leave my words for you to study, and study well, may I say. The picture you desire to see is unfolding for you. Open your mind and allow the visions to pass through in the silence and the light of the Rivine.

I am done. Print my words and share them this day.

Goodbye.
